

Histopathology of age related spontaneous tumor of thyroid and adrenal in rats. These tumors were spontaneous highly malignant with metastasis to remote sites and they are very important in ageing rats and could be of highly beneficial effect of those tumors in incidence in man and women and there relation to age. These studies they give very important research data on thyroid and adrenal tumors. Finally those tumor they start when rats were over one year of age and continue till and of life span of animal which about two years or over.

Bahaa Al-Sereah
Bassim Hssen Alassady

Assistant professor Bahaa Abdulhussein Al-sereah graduated from Veterinary Medicine college 2004. From 2005-2007 working as postgraduate student doing MSc in Poultry Diseases. In 2015 he worked as postgraduate student doing PhD in Poultry Nutrition. He has 38 researches and 2 books published.

Histopathological investigation of malignant thyroid and adrenal tumor study of thyroid and adrenal tumors in ageing rats

LAP
LAMBERT
Academic Publishing