

Text 3:

The primary function of advertising is to persuade people to buy something. Consequently, understanding how advertising influences people is an exercise in understanding how persuasion techniques are used in advertising to trigger buying decision. Persuasion techniques can be either rational or irrational or a combination of both.