

Text 3:

Radar is a device for ascertaining the range and direction , and even the identity of un seen objects. Experiments had been carried out for some years before the outbreak of World War II to use the fact that solid objects reflect radio waves, and most of the great Powers had already developed simple forms of radar before 1939.